Flexible IT in a Changing World

The Quad Cloud covers a range of IT services from email, contacts and calendars to web sites, servers, backups and software. We provide a suitable, tailor-made internet connectivity solution by finding a broadband or leased line solution to fit your needs. By connecting your sites together, or by providing secure home-working, you can create your own cloud.

As an internet service provider, we can help with domain name registration. We give you real human interaction, rather than the faceless, confusing portals which give people so much frustration.

Flexible IT in a Changing World

We develop bespoke software to your specification. By analysing your business processes we can create a solution to fit your needs. We can help your organisation to be more efficient by linking systems to reduce repetition and to minimise errors.

As well as in-house systems and solutions, external interfaces can be created to give your business a unique edge over your competitors. Creating a link provides strong, lasting relationships with your clients enabling your business to operate efficiently.

Flexible IT in a Changing World

We can cater to all hardware needs, we can provide laptops and PCs pre-installed with all the software that you need, ready to run on the network and server that we can also provide. Furthermore we know that budget can play a large part when considering IT solutions so we pride ourselves on being able to tailor our solutions without compromising your budget. When you purchase hardware equipment with us, be assured that we do not cut costs with quality, but we do provide good value with high quality service and knowledge.
